DAY AFTER THE BATTLE. NEITHER MAN SHOWS THE EFFECTS

OF HARD PUNISHMENT. The Champion Has a Swellen Lip and a Dam-aged Thumb, While Corbett Is Sore in Mind More than in Body—Purse and Side Stakes Handed to the Winner-Fitz to Leave To-Day.

CARSON, March 18.-The good fortune which attended Dan A. Stuart and all concerned in the great championship battle yesterday was never better demonstrated than it was this morning, when the storm, which the weather boss kindly kept bottled up behind the western Sierras on St. Patrick's Day, was let loose with full force. But nearly all the sports had deserted the town, and those who remained were glad enough to stay indoors and fight the battle over again.

A number of sensational rumors about the dangerous illness of Fitzshmmons caused a little excitement, and there was a scurrying for backs to transport inquirers to Cook's ranch. The fact is the champion at no time after he stepped out of the ring suffered any physical pain beyond that caused by a slight fracture of his right thumb joint, which he received in the second or third round of the battle. Last night he drove into the city with Martin Julian and Ernest Roeber. He spent a few hours with his friends, and illustrated in the headquarters of the United Asso-ciated Presses how the knockout blow was delivered. A piece of fiesh-colored court plaster over his split and swollen under lip, a heightening of his ordinary ruddy complexion, and a white linen bandage wrapped around his thumb were the only external evidences of the conflict.

Fitzsimmons drove back to his quarters alone, leaving Julian and Roeber as his representatives at the celebration of victory. The champion retired to rest shortly before midnight. He suffered from muscular nervousness during the night and frequently woke up with a startling twitch. When he arose this morning his joints ached a trifle, but a short mineral bath in the springs quickly set him to rights and a rubdown left him completely refreshed. He dined with Warden Henderson at the penitentiary, and spent a quiet afternoon at Cook's. Martin Julian was deputed to answer congratulatory correspondence, a task which kept him glued to the telegraph counter for hours.

Stakeholder Al Smith turned over the purse and side bets to Julian this morning in Dan Stuart's office. W. A. Brady, Secretary Wheelock, and a few reporters were present when the transfer was made. After the checks were handed over to Julian Brady renewed his offer made last evening to back Corbett against Fitzsimmons for $20,000. Julian's reply was evasive. He intimated that Fitzsimmons would evasive. He intimated that Fitzsimmons would soon retire from the listic arena, and, judging by expressions uttered by the champion, it is not improbable that this will be the programme.

It leaked out this evening that Dan Stuart had offered a purse of $10,000 for a meeting between Fitzsimmons and Joe Goddard, to take place at Carson three months hence. Billy Madden, representing Goddard, jumped at the proposition and Julian is thinking it over. It will be left for the champion to decide whether he will defend his title. Mrs. Fitzsimmons is violently opposed to the idea, and it is possible that Boo will heed her advice.

The Corbett party, including Brady, McVey, Woods, Delandy, White, Egan, and Jeffries, deserted Shaw's Springs this evening. Brady and White will go East from Reno to New York, and the others return to San Francisco.

Martin Julian was disappointed at not being able to secure the Mechanics' Pavilion at San Francisco for an exhibition to-morrow evening he has accepted an offer on behalf of the champion for his appearance at Surro's Baths and the Madde street dutters on Sunday. According to able to secure the Mechanics' Pavilion at San Francisco for an exhibition to morrow evening. He has accepted an offer on behalf of the champion for his appearance at Sutro's Baths and the Haight street chutes on Sunday. According to his present programme Fitzsimmons will leave Carson to-morrow with his wife and child. Julian, Roeber, Hickey, and Stenzler will accompany them. It is thought that as to the future fitzsimmons will accede to his wife's desire of making their home at New York city.

Martin Flaherty was whipped so quick by Hawkins that he feels that the context does not give a fair line on what he is able to do. All the same Hawkins is too big for Flaherty. He is a clever two-handed man and a powerful hitter.

Smith was not clever enough to land on Green, who did not use his right once during the fight. He stood Smith off with straight lefts, and in all of his own attacks he went in with a swinging left on the stomach.

The shooting scrape at night was in no manner connected with the fight. Bradford, the Montana man Injured, cannot live.

Madden tried hard to get a match for Steve O'Donnell, but failed, Jeffries, the Los Angeles giant, who has been assisting in Corbett's training, is matched against Theodore Van Buskirk of the Olympic Club of Sun Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—This is a gambling town, and nearly everybody had something up in the pool rooms or in private bets on the big fight. Major Frank McLaughin, Chairman of the State Republican Committee, won $2,000 on Fitz, and Adolph Spreckels, son of the sugar millonaire, pulled in $12,000. A majority of the local sports, however, and nearly all annateurs, wagered on Corbett, and there is a large area of depression over all their haunts to-day.

The ex-champion remained in strict retirement to-day at his hotel. He had a bad attack of hysteria on the special train coming down from Carson, but he recovered before he reached town. He is very sore to-day, in mind more than body, but those who have seen him say he is not injured physically by F injured physically by Fitz's tremendous blow.

Jim slept late, and when he arose it was merely to eat his breakfast, which was sent in to him. He made a good meal and then lay down again. Later he again roused himself, this time because of a visit of a dentist, who came to repair the damage done to one of his teeth through Fitz's list having come rather rudely in contact with it yesterday. Then he took another nap. His sister and father visited him during the morning. The elder Corbett seemed in no way cast down over what had happened. He said:

"Jim lost the fight fairly and squarely; there's ed physically by Fitz's tremendous blow way cast down over what had happened. He said:

"Jim lost the fight fairly and squarely; there's no question as to that. But it was just a chance that cost him the victory and one, too, that Fitz never would have had but for Jim's own foolishness. He realizes that keenly himself, and that is why he finds it doubly hard to accept his defeat. You see, Jim got too easy when he saw things going his way. It was just as Delanoy said afterward, 'I reared you'd get gay, Jim, and sure enough you did. That was the trouble.

The elder Corbett denical reports he had ruined himself by betting on his son. He declared he had wagered only $40.

"No matter what the conclusion of the fight was," said Mrs. Corbett last evening, "I believe now, as I always have, that my husband is the most expert and skilful fighter in the world. I think there must have been some accident in the Corniahman."

The nombar feeding is in Fitz's fever, largely.

The popular feeling is in Fitz's favor, largely The popular feeling is in Fitz's favor, largely because of Coriett's brag and his incessant abuse of the Cornishman. Corbett has never been a popular favorite, owing chiefly to his pecuniary closeness. He is not liberal when in good fortune, as Sullivan always was.

SAN FHARCHSON, March 18.—Fitzsimmons gave his own weight as 156½ pounds, and Corbett's as 187. Siler says Fitz weighed 157½, and Corbett 183 or more.

SAD AND HAPPY SPORTS.

Some of the Men Here Who Won and Lort on the Big Fight.

The result of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight was food for much gossip about the hotels and sporting resorts in this city yesterday. The "I told you so's" were greatly in evidence, and held out their chests and seemed to be as proud as peacocks. They could be found almost everywhere, even in the face of facts that they were known to have been on the wrong side. Strange to relate, the Fitzsimmons people who really did a lot of "rooting" and planked their money down like true blue sporting men were the most unconcerned of all. The champion's decisive victory was looked upon as a matter of factsomething that they had speculated upon all something that they had speculated upon all along. In most cares they highred on just how long it would hast, and did not even lose confidence when the chances of their favorite winning seemed to look unfavorable.

On the other had the followers of Corbett took Jim's defeat very much to heart. Johnny Manning of the Hoffman House was probably the most dejected of the lot. Johnny himself only lost a small sum, but he felt for his friends who took his tip and plunged wildly on the Californian. Manning a commissions came from all parts of the country. In this city, he says, he put a lot of money down for a number of Union League Cub men. Jimmy Hayes, Ed Kearney, Jr., E. G. Glimere of the Acedemy of Music, Frank McKee, Maurice Barrymore, the actor; Comedian De Wolf Hopper, George G. "I must now admit that Bob is a wonder. He is a real champion, a game fellow, and deserves the support and cateom of the whole world. I lost by his victory, but I appreciate the fact that he is a puglist from his toe nails up."

There was a rumor about the hotels yesterday afternoon that Fitz had died from the effects of the blows he received, and many inquiring friends kept the wires and telephones busy seeking information. When the report proved to be unfounded the champion's friends breathed a sigh of great relief.

Peter Maher is anxious to fight Fitz again, and his manager, John J. Quinn, yesterday sent the following telegram to the Illustrated News office from Pittsburgh:

Hill, however, sparred four friendly rounds with Dave Ryan of the West Side A. C., while Regan fought ten lively rounds with Jim White of New York city and received the decision over White.

Those old-time local rivals, Larry Becker of the Bayonne City A. C. and Mike Hauser of the Union Star A. C., were matched in the wind-up fight. Becker punished Hauser severely during the first round and followed up his advantage in the second. Hauser fouled Becker and lost the go.

Expects to Have the Harvard Eight on the Water To-Day.

R. C. Lehmann, the well-known rowing expert, who will coach Harvard for the triangular race against Yale and Cornell, arrived from England yesterday by the White Star liner Toutonic. While waiting on the pier for his luggage he said he had every confidence that the men had not gone back in their work during his absence. He had, he continued, left full instructions with Capt. Goodrich and G. H. Mumford, which he knew would be carried out to the letter. His reasons for feeling so sanguine, to the letter. His reasons for feeling so sanguine, he added, were because the Harvard rowing authorities had been so enthusiastic over his principles, while he was coaching last November. "Never in my experience have I had such will-ing material, and when I left for the Christ-mas holidays the men had shown such an eager aptitude that they had thoroughly grasped my ideas.

"I hope to have the men out the first thing to-morrow," continued Lehmann, "as I leave for Buston at once." What was the substance of my instructions! What was the substance of my instructions? Well, speaking generally, they were that the men should have slow, steady work. The slower the stroke the better, as it induces the men to swing together and minimizes the chances of any of them developing individual faults. Then, special attention was to be paid to leg work and the manipulation of the slides, the reach forward and the swing back. Capt. Goodrich and Mr. Mumford were in such deep sympathy with my ideas that I shall be greatly surprised if I do not find a practically ready erew.

EASTERN LEAGUE MEETING

Delegates Talk Over Various Interesting Poin at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

The Eastern League of Professional Baseball Clubs held its annual spring schedule meeting at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday and will wind up its business to-day. This league is the most prosperous minor organization under the protection of the national agreement, thanks to its hustling President, P. T. Powers. The utmos harmony prevails just now among the clubs, and routine business is conducted in the smoothest possible manner. When President Powers called the meeting to order the eight clubs were repre-sented as follows:

Sented as follows:
Toronto, A. A. Irwin; Buffelo, James Franklin;
Rochester, J. H. Buckley and C. A. Leimgruber; Syracuse, George N. Kuntzsch; Seranton, Thomas B.
Brooks; Wilkesbarre, E. F. Bogart and C. W. Tammany; Providence, W. H. Draper, E. A. Johnson, and J. M. Battey; Springfield, C. T. Shean and Thomas E.
Bures.

J. M. Battey: Springfield, C. T. Shean and Thomas E. Burus.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and adopted the report of the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws came up for consideration. The first point to cause a discussion was a new amendment to section 35 governing the power of the Board of Directors. In the past the directors, whose duty has been to consider various disputes between the clubs, have had absolute jurisdiction in that all of their decisions were final. As the impression prevailed that they were possessed of too much power, it was finally agreed to adopt an amendment to the effect that hereafter the directors must examine all cases submitted and file reports of the same at the spring or fall meetings, to be adopted by a majority vote of the delegates.

Another important amendment which was accepted will in the future exclude managers of teams from the meetings. The old rule merely kept out players, but at the last session of the League several team managers were in attendance, one of whom took such a vigorous hand in the proceedings that there was quite a family row. Tom Burns, the manager of the Springfields, came to yesterday's meeting to represent certain stockholders who could not be present, and while his presence was in no way objection—she, it served to bring the matter up for official action.

It has always been the custom for President and while his presence was in no way objectionable, it served to bring the matter up for official action.

It has always been the custom for President Powers to call the schedule meeting shortly after the National League Assembly, but there has never been a set date. As a result various delegates have found fault with the dates selected, so that Powers decided to have the matter settled one way or another. As a result an amendment was passed stating that the schedule meeting shall be held on the Wednesday of the week following the National League meeting.

An important point regarding the releasing of players was favorably acted upon. In order to protect their own interests the Eastern League clubs will now be compelled to notify the President will now be compelled to notify the President when they intend to release one of their players. The President will then notify the other clubs in the circuit, so that claims for the players' services can be filed with him before the men are allowed to go free. The club whose letter or telegram reaches the President first, according to the local postmark'or the date of receipt of the despatch, will receive full authority to negotiate with the men in question. If no claims are filed then the players can sign with outside clubs. There were so many other items to be looked over that the delegates finally decided to adjourn their meeting until to-day, when the schedule will be adopted.

Thore is a great deal of rivairy among the managers of the teams, and two bets were recorded during the day. Arthur Irwin, who owns the Toronto Club, wagered $100 with Burns of Springfield that his team would finish ahead of the Massachusetts players. George Praper of the Providence Club also bet a similar amount that his nine would beat out Burns's experts. There was quite a large crowd of basehall men about the hotel during the day, notably F. A. Abell of the Brooklyns, Manager Murray of Providence, Umpire Tim Hurst, Dan Brouthers, the veteran first baseman; Charley Jones, and a number of Eas

The men did some work in the gynnasium and bowling alley. A rift in the clouds in the afterneon sent some of the players out for a short ride on their wheels, and the monotony of training was thus agreeably varied. Meckin put in an appearance last evening, and when Van Haltren arrives the team will be complete. Meckin says his arm is in good shape and thinks he will keep a good many players guessing next summer. He will begin practice in earnest to-morrow. ## The Boston Ball Team Off for the South.

Bosros, March 18.-The Boston baseball team sailed for Havana on the steamer Nacoochee this afternoon at 3 o'clock. There was a large crowd at the wharf to see the boys off. President Soden and Director shake with Capi. Duffy, Tenney, Sullivan, Tucker, Lowe, Stivetta, Hamilton, Gollins, Klobedars, Bergen, and Zianzell. Manager Selve was anxious about E. N. Lewis, his college pitcher, whom he induced to sign a Boston contract during the forencon. Lewis came along with the purser, and was the last man to go up the plank. Hamilton and Collins went along with no standard contracts in their pockets. President Soden said he felt sure the boys would sign them and all would be pleasant later on. The Nacoochee is due to arrive in Savannah on Sunday next. It was on this boat that the Boston and New York teams of the Players' League left New York for Savannah on March 16, 1890. She has shown fast enough work to make her owners think she will he a corker. She is well engaged in the principal Western stakes for two-year-olds.

The Hen Strome two-year-old bay filly Caddie C., in Major Thomas's string, is said to be won-derfully specify. She is the fastest two-year-old John Clay has ever handled, and as he has developed such good performers as Queen Ban, Jewel Ban, Ban Fox, High Flight, Long Flight, Hegiaz, and the great Himyar, Clay's opinion of two-year-olds should be worth considering. Waldorf, a colt of good class last season, has developed into a large and handsome three-year-old. He is not entered in any of the Derbies, but has been placed in a number of all-age events in the West this season. He is being trained by Henry McDaniels.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

Want Bicycles Carried on the Elevated Boads-Notes.

The members of the L. A. W. have made sevral ineffectual attempts to induce the officials of the Manhattan Elevated Railroad to provide for the transportation of bicycles. Recent agitation of the question, however, has resulted in interesting Manager Francicki in the project, and he will consult with the Chief Consul of the New York State division of the L. A. W. to-day, in order to ascertain what the plans of the bi-cycle riders are for such an innovation. The officers of the League feel that to permit the transportation of wheels on the elevated roads when accompanied by their owners will be a great concession on the part of the railroad. In Brooklyn the elevated roads carry bicycles in the smoking car for the extra charge of ten cents. This arrangement is a great discomfort to passengers, as at times the cars are so crowded with bicycles that it is often difficult to get in and out.

Yesterday Engineer Reed of Maintenance of Way of the Metropolitan Street Railway met by appointment at the Madison avenue bridge over the Harlem River Chairman Nason, W. K. Doty and C. A. Benedict of the Good Roads Commit tee of the Associated Cycling Clubs of the city of New York. He promised to have the driveway of the draw of the bridge repaired immediately, and the right and left portions of the approaches between the tracks and the curb asphalted for the use of wheelmen, if that section of the road way is under control of the railway company. If it is not the Park Commissioners will put down asphalt strips on the approaches to the bridge.
